Legal woes increase for former pastor

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The last time a former pastor was in Powell Circuit Court there was talk about another warrant possibly coming into play from Lexington. Barry N. Wethington, a man who pastored a church in Powell County until he was released about a year ago, is already facing charges of third degree rape in Powell County. Now he faces the same charge in a Fayette County case.

Last Wednesday, while in a hearing in which Wethington had hoped to have his $185,000 cash bond lowered, a new warrant was served on him instead. The warrant alleges that between July 2 and July 31, 2007 Wethington had sexual intercourse with a 15 year old girl. He is current-

Richardson faces assault charges while waiting for a trial

Adult abuse and exploitation trial is set for February, latest alleged victim may be a witness

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

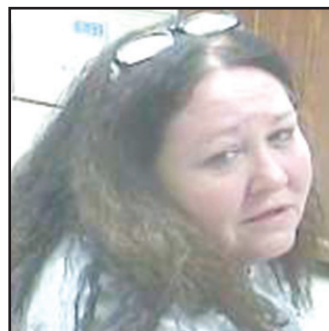

A Stanton woman awaiting trial on an adult abuse case is back in jail after assaulting a witness in that case. Ruby A. Richardson was arrested on Nov. 24, just three days before Thanksgiving, after she allegedly hit a woman with a whiskey bottle and then pointed a gun at several people. She is also accused of using someone's car without permission.

According to an arrest warrant that was served on Richardson and court records, on Nov. 23

Richardson allegedly struck Briana Haddix in the head with a whiskey bottle. The assault apparently left knots on Haddix head. The warrant also stated that Richardson allegedly struck Haddix, who is a relative, several times with her fist and allegedly bit Haddix on the arm.

As if that was not enough, the warrant also states that Richardson is accused of also pointing a pistol at Haddix and several other people who were present. None of the other persons were named on the warrant.

Richardson told the Powell District Court that Haddix

Ruby Richardson

came to her property and started an altercation.

To make matters worse for Richardson a day earlier, on Nov. 22, another warrant was issued for her claiming she took a vehicle without permission. That warrant stated that she allegedly failed to return a car she borrowed from Taulbee Bowen III.

Richardson was quite the celebrity in the news world back on Feb. 6, 2013. It was then that she was indicted by a Powell Grand Jury for abuse or neglect of an adult when police say "she knowingly inflicted injury, intimidation or punishment that resulted in physical or mental injury, or physical pain." Richardson also faces a second count of exploitation of an adult. Police say that Richardson took charge of her victim's

Cancer foundation helps local teenager to 'Catch A Dream'

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Many of us have heard about the Make A Wish Foundation. They work to make wishes come true for children who are facing a life altering and threatening disease. Trips to famous parks or meeting their heroes seem to the norm for the foundations work. But what about those kids who like to hunt or fish? What can be done for them? How can they catch their dreams?

That is where the Catch A Dream Foundation comes in. That very foundation heard from a Powell County teen fighting cancer and helped him catch his dream.

Dakota Tipton, a 17 year old junior at Powell County High School, has been fighting a battle with Non-Hodgkins Lymphoma. The disease is a cancer that starts in cells called lymphocytes, which are part of the body's immune system. Lymphocytes are in the lymph nodes and other lymphoid tissues such as the spleen and bone marrow. Other cancers can move into the lymph nodes, but they are not lymphoma.

Tipton loves to hunt and while in the hospital one day for a chemotherapy treatment, his family heard about the Catch A Dream Foundation.

"We filled out the application and turned it in. They are sort of like the Make A Wish people, except they deal with hunting and fishing," Betty Tipton, Dakota's mother said.

According to the organization's website they are: "a national, charitable, non-profit 501(c)(3) foundation, that provides once-in-a-lifetime dream hunting and fishing trips to children across the United States and Canada, age 18 and younger, who suffer from life-threatening illnesses. Through these adventures, and exposure to outdoors-minded people who care, the program instills in these children a message of encouragement at a time when they need to know that hope does, indeed, exist."

The website tells about how the organization came into being.

"The initial idea for a program that would ultimately be known as Catch-A-Dream was originated by Bruce Brady, of Brookhaven, MS in late 1999 as he faced his own arduous battle with cancer. Taking great comfort in time spent in the outdoors, he drew strength from these experiences, and was able to "recharge his batteries" as he hunted and fished in his last days. Shortly before his death, he shared with family and friends a vision for some type of program that would provide outdoor opportunities to Mississippi youth with life-threatening illnesses who, unfortunately, were no longer served by the world's

See TIPTON, A3

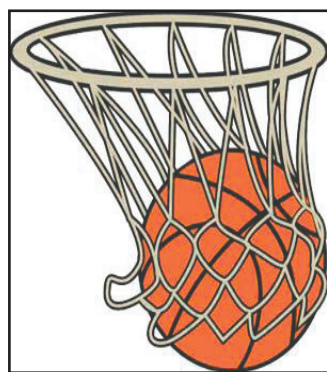

Dakota Tipton bagged a 10 point buck in Wyoming as part of a trip sponsored by the Catch A Dream Foundation. The foundation helps those with life-threatening conditions take part in hunting or fishing endeavors in much the same way Make A Wish Foundation helps people too. Tipton is seen here with his deer and his guide/friend, Bob Fertsel.

largest children's wish-granting organization. When the Make-A-Wish Foundation established national policy that precludes granting a child a wish that involves hunting or use of "...firearms, hunting bows, or other hunting or sport-shooting equipment" Bruce and many others who love the outdoors were disappointed.

Bruce lost his battle with cancer in February 2000, long before the idea was anything more than a simple concept to find a way to somehow provide meaningful outdoor experiences to a handful of Mississippi children who face life-threatening illnesses. But his family and friends were dedicated to creating such a program as a memorial to Bruce that would eternally provide a message of hope at a time when children with life-threatening illness need to know that hope does, indeed, exist. In mid-2000, the Catch-A-Dream Program was founded as a unique and unprecedented ed partnership among the Brady family, the MSU-Extension Service, the Mississippi Wildlife Federation and the Mississippi 4-H Clubs Foundation, which provided Catch-A-Dream its initial 501(c)(3) fiscal home."

The foundation, which is based in Mississippi and no longer has a working relationship with MSU, but the organization has grown considerably.

They chose Dakota and decided to help him "catch a dream."

The foundation sponsored a trip for Dakota and his family to go to Red Cloud Ranch in Lingle, Wyoming. It is a 17,000 acre actual working ranch, according to Betty Tipton, run by Jean and Kelly Roberts. That trip took place the week of Nov. 6 through Nov. 10.

"We had not flown before," Betty Tipton recalled. "We flew from Lexington to Chicago on a plane that probably held about 100 people. Then we flew on one from Chicago to Denver and it probably had 200 on it. Then we flew from Denver to Wyoming in a real small plane. It was interesting."

While there Dakota was able to hunt. He bagged a 10 point buck, along with his guide and hunting partner from the group, Bob Fertsel.

"They are going to send the meat to us and this spring they will send the head mounted for us," Betty said. "They took care of everything."

The trip was an experience of a lifetime for Dakota. But he still faces his battle.

"He went back to school in September. One of his chemo meds did some damage to his heart," Betty responded when asked how Dakota was doing. "We still have more doctor visits, especially with his cardiologist. But he's doing good."

Dakota is also in line for the Make A Wish Foundation. "Yes, they plan on doing something too," Betty added. "But he really enjoyed himself in Wyoming."

If you know anyone who is facing a life altering or threatening disease and they under the age of 18 years old, then please go to the foundations website to apply to catch a dream of their own. That website is www.catchadream.org.

I'm just saying . . . My greatest gift is turning 18

JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Its that time of year again. Yes, I know it's the holiday season and Christmas is just a few days away. But that is not what I am talking about.

No, it's time to celebrate the greatest gift I have ever received (short of God's grace). Every year, on the 13th of December, I bow my head and pray a little harder and thank God even more for my precious gift. My daughter, Whitney.

Now if you are an avid reader of this column, or if you have known me and my family for any time at all, then you have heard or read the stories about my daughter. I guess you could say I am a proud daddy. Back in 1996 she entered this world in a not so neat or careful way. Emergency surgery on my wife put both of them in danger. In fact I was asked by the surgeon if he could only save one, which should he save? God watched over them and they both made it.

Everyday after that has been an adventure. I have watched that blue-eyed bundle of joy slowly grow at first. She bonded quickly to me as her mother recuperated. I could not imagine what life was like anymore without her.

As she grew and learned to walk, I missed her first steps as I had to work. But I got to hear her first words and I got to spend a lot of time with her when she was smaller.

You have read the story about how she would wake up when I came in from pulling a double shift at the jail and sneak down the hallway. She would peek around the corner and as I motioned for her, she would run and jump into my arms. We'd eat ice cream at two in the morning, don't tell her mom.

I remember watching as she learned to swim (something I can't do) and the dare-devil she became as she would jump into the pool with no fear.

As time went and she grew, it was time to go to school. Momma was broken hearted and I was losing my run-around buddy, but Whitney took to school pretty well. As some kids cried that first day, she told us to go on she was "OK". Mom wasn't though.

Suddenly the years become a blur as she has grown quickly. She would wear frilly dresses for pictures then go outside with me to throw some softball. She tried the hoops game for a while, and boys, well they didn't catch her attention until high school I think.

Of course I almost lost her a couple of times. The old snake bite story you have heard about still brings tears to this old, rough editor's eyes. When I think back to that night and was wondering did God only give her to me for that long and then seeing what He did to give her back to me. I was extremely grateful and humbled.

The car accident last year scared me again. It seems that as she has gotten older she has found new ways to keep her daddy on his toes.

She has done well in school. She is one of the nicest, and I think most prepared for the next stage of life (college), young person that I know. Maybe I was a little hard on her, but I know I can't and will not be with her all the time so I wanted her to be ready to handle anything. She is still learning, but she has not disappointed me.

She chose to play a sport that I love and she has excelled at it. She plays much better than I did, but this is her time and I enjoy watching every minute of it. (I know I fuss a lot as a coach and dad will do, but deep down I am so proud when she takes the field and when it is done tells me she loved it no matter what happened.)

This Saturday my princess, the center of my world, the reason why I do what I do each and every day, the reason I have changed so much over the years, the one person that has never, ever had me wonder if she loved me or not, will turn 18. (Let me stop here to warn all boys, I was young once myself. Just because she will be 18 just means this daddy will be watching a little closer – remember that.)

I sat down the other day and tried to remember all that I could about my little girl. I tried to recall everything and hope and pray that God will never let me lose those memories. I may not be able to recall names or I may forget where I am going or to turn off the lights, but please never let me forget the great times I have had with my daughter.

I know I will put on a big show about how its all part of growing up. Kids grow, turn 18 and life goes on. When you all see her you will see a sweet, kind young lady. I will see the little four-year old sitting on my knee and eating a bowl of ice cream, quietly (of course she giggled a lot back then.)

When you see her taking the field and sliding hard into a base, or making a good defensive play, you will see a player who has worked hard to be there. I will still see the little girl who is asking if she can use a bat that is as tall as she is.

The world will see Whitney as a young adult, preparing to graduate high school and head off to college. Hopefully they will see a proper young lady who will make it on her own, but know that mom and dad are only a call away (yes I can drive fast). You will all see another person that you will either like or not for whatever reason.

But I will see my little girl, always smiling and loving her daddy unconditionally. And I love her the same way.

In fact, we have been saying this since she could talk, (math people don't take it too literally), "Whitney you know how much I love you? Count all the stars, times them by two, times that by infinity and we can't be divided by none."

Happy Birthday baby and I thank God He has trusted me to be your dad. It has been an adventure, but I wouldn't want it any other way.

I'm just saying . . .

With winter coming, AG has some tips to help with energy costs

By JACK CONWAY
KY Attorney General

Last winter, many Kentuckians who rely on propane to heat their homes and businesses exhausted their propane supply amid a nationwide shortage, soaring propane prices, and frigid weather conditions.

Despite shortages, the majority of propane companies worked with their customers to make partial deliveries or provide them waivers to receive propane from another supplier, which Kentucky law requires. However, this wasn't the case for all Kentucky propane users.

Many customers filed complaints with my office when they became frustrated at the record-high prices, the inability to get propane, or the antics of their propane company. Donald Shepperd of Calloway County was one such customer. Mr. Shepperd went without propane for two weeks, but he faced an even bigger issue with his bill when his propane company incorrectly charged him for the propane he received.

"After the Office of the Attorney General got involved, I received a credit to my account," Shepperd said. "I'm thankful someone listened."

Mr. Shepperd's story wasn't unique. My office was inundated with more than 200 phone calls from propane customers encountering similar problems. For instance, Robert Mutter of Barren County received an incorrect billing statement that was nearly triple the amount of what he had already purchased on a pre-paid contract.

"The Office of the Attorney General worked quickly and efficiently to provide us with the appropriate information to get this matter resolved," said Denise Strader, who assisted her father, Mr. Mutter, with filing a complaint. "Within a few weeks of contacting the Attorney General, my parents were credited back what they were overbilled."

This season, colder-than-normal temperatures could cause propane shortages across Kentucky once again. State energy officials are already encouraging consumers to fill their propane tanks early, sign up for automatic delivery and enroll in payment plans to help avoid a late-winter run on propane.

My Office of Rate Intervention and I are also reminding propane customers that there is a protocol in place allowing them to secure propane even if their supplier is unable to provide it. Know that under Kentucky law, consumers can receive a waiver to seek propane from another source if their supplier does not have the supply on hand. Even during a propane shortage, companies still have a responsibility to take care of their customers who need access to propane to heat their homes and run their businesses.

Conserving Energy this Season

As your Attorney General, I've worked hard to stop more than $1 billion in proposed rate increases by utility companies. There are also actions you can take as a consumer to cut down on utility costs this winter. By making a few minor adjustments to how your family uses energy in the home, you can save money on your monthly bill.

- Turn down your thermostat as much as you can and still remain comfortable.
- Turn off lights and appliances when not in use. Consider shutting doors and vents to rooms when they are not in use.
- Replace incandescent bulbs with fluorescent or LED bulbs. Installing energy-efficient lighting is one of the fastest ways to cut your energy bills.
- Understand and reduce as much phantom load as possible. You can cut phantom energy loads by unplugging home office appliances when not in use.
- Consider performing an energy audit on your home. Home energy audits pinpoint inefficiencies in your home's heating and building structure. Contact your local electric and/or natural gas provider to ask if they have energy-saving programs or provide energy audits to customers.

• Weatherize your home. Inspect windows and doors for air leaks and look for gaps around pipes and wires, foundation seals, and mail slots. Visit energy.ky.gov and EnergyStar.gov for additional tips on how to properly weatherize your home.

Representative-elect David Hale joins other freshmen legislators for orientation in Frankfort

Representative-elect David Hale, R-Wellington (74th District) spent his first week in Frankfort as part of a three-day orientation for incoming legislators. The legislative training is in preparation for his first session in January, and work in future legislative and interim sessions. “The workshops gave me an opportunity to meet with other new and current legislators from throughout the state, talk face to face with leadership, and get a feel for what I’m going to have to do to be an active player during January’s session,” said Rep-elect Hale. “It also gave me a better sense of the resources available to serve the people of my district.” “Rep-elect Hale’s background and his passion for his community will be a valuable asset to the House Republican Caucus as we strive to move our Commonwealth forward,” said House Republican Floor Leader Jeff Hoover, R-Jamestown. “These next three days will help prepare him for his new role as Representative in the 74th District, and help him become an effective voice for the people in his district.” The three-day legislative orientation included workshops to familiarize Representative-elect Hale and other new members with legislative procedures and other aspects of the Kentucky House of Representatives. Hale will be officially sworn in on Jan. 6, the first day of the 2015 session of the Kentucky General Assembly. “It is a great honor to represent the 74th District, and I assure you that I’ll will work hard for my constituents and make sure our voice is heard in Frankfort,” Hale added. Representative-elect Hale will represent Menifee, Montgomery, and Powell counties in the House of Representatives. He is one of five new Republican members elected to serve in the House.

Homestead exemption set for 2015-16

The maximum homestead exemption on real estate owned by qualified persons has been set at $36,900 for the 2015 and 2016 tax periods. The 2015-2016 exemption reflects a $900 increase over the 2013 – 2014 exemption of $36,000. The amount of the homestead exemption is adjusted every two years in accordance with KRS 132.810 to compensate for changes in the purchasing power of the dollar. The exemption provided state and local property tax savings of approximately $178 million for more than 449,000 elderly or disabled Kentuckians during the 2014 tax year. To qualify for the homestead exemption, a person must be at least 65 years old during the tax period or have been classified as totally disabled by any public or private retirement system. The property must also be owned, occupied and maintained by the taxpayer as a personal residence on the January 1 assessment date. Applications for the homestead exemption should be filed in the local Property Valuation Administrator’s office.

PCHS Staff Spotlight:

Alicia Frazier

The PCHS Staff Spotlight of the week is Mrs. Alicia Frazier.

Mrs. Frazier has been teaching at PCHS for the past five and a half years and she currently teaches Accounting, Financial Services, and Computer Applications. She also works as the School to Work coordinator. Mrs. Frazier graduated from the University of Kentucky in 2005 with a BS in Accounting and an MA in Education.

Mrs. Frazier's extra-curricular activities include co-advising the Future Business Leaders of America club and being the year-book coordinator for Bowen Elementary School. In her spare time, Mrs. Frazier enjoys spending time with her family, traveling, shopping, watching the SBN network, reading the Bible, and anything else that is spiritually driven.

Mrs. Frazier says that the thing she enjoys most about teaching at PCHS is the ability to impact students in her own community. She also says that her goal is to equip her students with skills that they can use in both post-secondary education and the workforce.

PCHS Student of the Week

Haley Wheeler is this week's PTO Student of the Week at Powell County High School. She is the daughter of Greg and Cherie Wheeler of Clay City.

Haley is the vice-president of her senior class. She is also a varsity cheerleader, the captain of the academic team, and a member of the Beta Club, HOSA, and FCA.

The best part about going to PCHS for Haley is "Definitely learning from all my teachers." She also enjoys helping other students as a peer tutor. "My favorite class is Spanish," she says. "I not only get to learn a new language, but I'm good at it, so I get to help others learn and use it on a daily basis."

When asked what makes

her unique, Haley replied, "I'm the youngest student in my class because I skipped kindergarten."

Haley was nominated for PTO Student of the Week by her AP English teacher, Eddie Coleman.

In the future, Haley plans to attend the University of Kentucky and major in speech pathology. She would also like to be Miss Kentucky one day. If that happens, she would be the shortest one ever.

Student of the Week is a program sponsored by the PTO and recognizes students who are role models in the areas of study, effort, cooperation, and attitude. Other students nominated this week include Chris Crabtree, Zeb Faulkner, Keeli Goodwin, and Destiny Peck.

Student Nominations sought for Eco-Art Contest to recognize high school artists

It's that time of year again. The Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection (DEP) is soliciting nominations for the 2014-15 Eco-Art Contest. The contest, which is in its sixth year, provides an opportunity for students to gain statewide recognition for their artwork as it relates to Kentucky's environment. Used as a tool for environmental education, art supports DEP's mission to protect Kentucky's environment.

Multiple awards will be presented to eligible Kentucky high school students who create art using the contest themes or categories of conservation, pollution prevention and environmental protection. Students may submit artwork using the media types of drawing/painting/print, mixed media, sculpture and photographs, with one winner for each submitted art type within each category.

"We are calling for eligible high school students to use their creativity to explore their thoughts, feelings and ideas about the environment around them through their artwork and submit it to the Eco-Art Contest. Through their art, these students, the future leaders of Kentucky, can help inspire and educate others about Kentucky's environment," said R. Bruce Scott, DEP commissioner.

Artwork from previous years' contest winners is displayed in the DEP Training Center in Frankfort, where it has been viewed by hundreds of visitors. Winning artwork and the artists from the 2013-14 contest may be seen at <http://tinyurl.com/mdgvb8t>. Contest nominations are being accepted until midnight Feb. 27, 2015. All nominations must be sent via email only to envhelp@ky.gov. A digital picture of each artwork nomination must accompany each form submitted. Eligible students include all students enrolled in Kentucky public and private high schools for the 2014-15 academic year. Winners will be notified in March, and winning entries will be displayed in the DEP Training Center at 300 Fair Oaks Lane.

For more information about the Eco-Art Contest and to access a nomination form, visit <http://dca.ky.gov/LGGS/Pages/ecoart.aspx> or call the Division of Compliance Assistance toll-free at 800-926-8111.

With the holidays coming, make sure to manage your diabetes

who have been recently diagnosed with the disease. The upcoming holidays pose additional challenges and present more temptations.

If you have diabetes and you eat a moderate amount of foods that are high in nutrients and low in fat and calories, then eating during the holidays should be no different from the way you eat every day. If you do not eat this way, then try to create daily, healthy eating habits before the holidays begin. These habits should include consuming a well-balanced breakfast, fruits and vegetables in a variety of colors, whole grains and a variety of lean proteins in the appropriate portion size.

During the holidays, most people have the tendency to go overboard with desserts, because they are at every function and these treats are available in large quantities. Desserts often contain few nutrients and are heavy in carbs and fat that can quickly raise your blood glucose levels. Healthier options include eating fruit for dessert, splitting a dessert with someone, removing high-fat whipped topping and frosting from desserts and eating fewer carbohydrates during the main course so you can have a small dessert.

You can reduce the amount of sugar in many holiday dishes by making healthy adjustments to your recipes. Use vanilla or cinnamon as a sugar substitute in recipes. Unsweetened applesauce or sugar-free syrups can be used in place of regular syrup. You can also try using fresh fruit or fruits canned in their own juices rather than fruits canned in heavy syrup.

Educational programs of the Kentucky Cooperative Extension serve all people regardless of race, color, age, sex, religion, disability or national origin.

Christmas & Holiday Recipes

Stained Glass Cookies

- ½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine, softened
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup honey
- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 3 cups flour
- 1 tsp. Calumet Baking Powder
- ½ tsp. baking soda
- ½ tsp. salt
- 5 rolls (1-1/4 oz. each) ring-shaped hard candies

Beat butter, sugar, honey, egg and vanilla in large bowl with electric mixer on medium speed until well blended. Add flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; mix well. Cover. Refrigerate at least 2 hours.

Preheat oven to 350°F. Place dough on lightly floured surface; roll out to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into desired shapes with 2-1/2- to 3-inch floured cookie cutters. Trace smaller version of each cookie shape on dough, leaving 1/2- to 3/4-inch border of dough. Cut out and remove dough from center of each shape; set aside. Place cut-outs on baking sheets covered with foil. Shape remaining dough into ball; re-roll to make additional cutouts.

Crush each color of candy separately between 2 layers of wax paper with mallet. Spoon crushed candy inside centers of cutouts.

Bake 6 to 8 minutes or until candy is melted and cookies are lightly browned. Cool cookies completely before removing from foil.

Snowball Cake

- 1pkg. (2-layer size) devil's food cake mix
  - 1 pkg. (8 oz.) Philadelphia Cream Cheese, softened
  - 1 egg
  - 2 Tbsp. granulated sugar
  - 1 pkg. (3.4 oz.) JELL-O Vanilla Flavor Instant Pudding
  - ¼ cup powdered sugar
  - 1 cup cold milk
  - 1 tub (8 oz.) Cool Whip Whipped Topping, thawed
  - 1 cup Baker's Angel Flake Coconut
- Heat oven to 350°F.
Prepare cake batter, in 2-1/2-qt. oven-proof bowl, as directed on package; scrape side of bowl. Beat cream cheese, egg and granulated sugar until blended; spoon into center of batter in bowl.

Bake 1 hour 5 min. or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool cake in bowl 10 min. Loosen cake from bowl with knife; invert onto wire rack. Remove bowl. Cool cake completely.

Meanwhile, beat pudding mix, powdered sugar and milk in bowl with whisk 2 min. Stir in Cool Whip. Refrigerate until ready to use.

Place cake on plate; frost with pudding mixture. Cover with coconut.

Peppermint Marshmallow Bark

- 3 pkg. (4 oz. each) Baker's White Chocolate, melted
- 2 pkg. (4 oz. each) Baker's Semi-Sweet Chocolate, melted
- ½ cup Jet-Puffed Miniature Marshmallows
- ¼ cup crushed hard peppermint candies

Spread white chocolate into thin layer on waxed paper-covered baking sheet. Refrigerate 10 min.

Cover with semi-sweet chocolate; sprinkle with remaining ingredients.

Refrigerate 4 hours or until firm. Break into pieces or cut into shapes with cookie cutters.

Holiday Pizza Wreath

- 1 (13 ounce) can Pillsbury™ refrigerated pizza crust
  - 8-9 cheese sticks
  - 1 (25 ounce) jar Muir Glen™ tomato basil pasta sauce
  - 2 cups shredded mozzarella cheese
  - 2 cups baby arugula
  - 2 red bell peppers, 1 diced and 1 sliced
  - 1 green bell pepper, diced
  - 2 ounces spiced salami, thinly sliced
  - 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- Sauces for dipping and serving (ranch dressing, balsamic vinegar, pizza sauce, etc.)
Preheat the oven to 400°F.
Unroll the pizza crust dough and shape it in into a ball. Allow the dough to rest 5 minutes and then roll it out into a large circle.
Slice the cheese sticks in half lengthwise and place them around the edges of the pizza dough. Roll the edges up and over the cheese, pinching the dough to seal in the cheese.

Using a large 4-1/2 inch circle cookie cutter or a sharp knife, cut a circle out of the middle of the dough. Use the leftover dough to fill in any thin spots around the wreath.

Spread the pizza with sauce and then sprinkle with cheese. Add the arugula and diced red and green peppers. Sprinkle with a little more mozzarella cheese and then add the salami slices.

Bake for 25-30 minutes or until the cheese is melted and bubbly. While the pizza is baking, cut slices of the remaining red pepper in strips and arrange them in the shape of a bow.

Garnish the pizza with fresh arugula and Parmesan cheese. Place the pepper bow at the top. Serve with balsamic vinegar, ranch dressing and extra pizza sauce if desired.

Easy Candy Cane Cookies

- 1 tube Pillsbury™ refrigerated sugar cookie dough
- 1/3 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons Betty Crocker™ red gel food color
- 1 tablespoon water
- 2 candy canes, crushed (optional, for serving)

Preheat oven to 350°F.

Use a sharp knife to slice the sugar cookie dough in half. Unwrap one half of the dough and place it inside a large zip-top bag. Add 3 tablespoons of flour and 2 teaspoons of red gel coloring to the bag. Close the bag and knead the dough until evenly tinted. Remove from bag and place on a parchment-lined workspace.

Unwrap the second half of the dough. Knead 3 tablespoons of flour into the dough. Set aside.

Take 1 tablespoon of red dough and roll it into a long, thin rope. The dough rolls best when it's rolled slowly under the palm of your hand. Roll a tablespoon of white dough into a long, thin rope.

Lightly moisten your finger with a bit of water and run your finger along one side of the red rope. Gently press the white rope of dough to the moistened section of red dough. This helps the two types of dough stick together as you roll them into a single candy cane. Using the palm of your hand, slowly roll the red and white dough ropes together until about 1/2-inch thick and 7-8 inches long.

Gently twist the dough rope to wind the colors into a spiral (like a candy cane). Then carefully transfer to a parchment-lined cookie sheet. Fold the top of the dough rope down for the crook of a candy cane. Repeat with remaining red and white dough.

Bake in preheated oven for 8-12 minutes, or just until the bottom of the cookies begin to turn golden brown. Remove and cool completely before transferring to a serving platter. Sprinkle plate with crushed candy canes for garnish, if desired.

Encouraging word: A powerful reminder

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

It was, indeed, an unusual experience. About noon on Sunday, November 15, 1970, the bus pulled into a wild-looking area with a few bushes and stopped. Stepping off the bus on to sand, we were on a beach. In a few minutes, I carefully stepped onto something in the edge of the water so a picture could be made of me standing in the Dead Sea, and I got my shoes wet.

I thought nothing about it, for I knew my shoes would be dry in a few minutes. Then, when we were ready to leave the area, I happened to look down, and I was surprised by what I saw. The water had dried, and my shoes looked like I had been walking in snow. They were covered with salt.

The Dead Sea is a fascinating oddity of nature. At 1,292 feet below sea level, it is the lowest spot on earth. At its deepest point, it is 1,310 feet deep, and it has a mean depth of 1,080 feet. It is 48 miles long and about 10 miles wide at the widest point, and it has a surface area of about 360 square miles.

On a daily average, the Jordan River empties an estimated 6 million tons or 3 billion gallons of fresh water into the Dead Sea. With no outlet other than evaporation, it has, through the eons of time, forever received but never gave. So, it has become the most salt-saturated body of water in the world. Since it contains a little over 25% solid matter that is five times the concentration of the oceans, this solidity makes it impossible for life to exist in it. Even salt-water varieties of marine life succumb quickly when exposed to the salt-saturated water.

Although the Dead Sea has an unusual beauty, it is merely a vast lifeless cesspool for the surrounding countryside. But it is more; it is a powerful reminder of what life becomes when one forever receives but never gives anything in return.

Miss Ora Cunningham, of Frenchburg, spent the weekend in Stanton.

Miss Agnes North, a former Social Worker, was a visitor in Stanton last week.

Give Thanks

Now as Time and Tide speeds on

And Thanksgiving Day is here,

Our homes are filled with delicious foods,

Our hearts are filled with cheer.

We have many things to give thanks for,

The birds, flowers, sunshine and rain,

Our food, our clothes, and harvest crops;

Let's give thanks for all these things.

Let us be thankful for the peace

Our country has maintained;

But let us pray for those poor warringones;

Who fight in the cold and rain.

Let us not forget the Giver,

Who gives us blessings galore;

We must share with the unfortunate ones

If we wish to enter Heaven's door.

Apple Gingerbread

Apple gingerbread recipe, tested - and found excellent - by the home economics department of the Kentucky College of Agriculture:

1 c. molasses
3-4 c. sugar
1/2 c. melted fat
1 egg
1 c. boiling water
1 1/2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon ginger
3-4 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 c. flour
4-6 apples

Pare, core and slice apples and place in well buttered baking pan, sprinkle with a fourth of a cup of sugar, or more if apples are very sour, and partially cook in hot oven while mixing the gingerbread.

Mix molasses, half cup of sugar, melted fat, well beaten egg and beat until all are well combined. Mix spices, salt and flour and sift into molasses mixture and stir until flour is just dampened.

Quickly mix soda with hot water and mix and pour into mixture. Beat until smooth and pour over partially cooked apples. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 35 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

No Reduction in Road Crew

The State Highway Department, J. Lyter Donaldson, Commissioner, is planning to continue its present full maintenance crew the winter through. In former years, the crew has been reduced during the winter months.

What May We Expect?

Highway 15 in Powell County in certain sections seems to us to be in very bad condition to start in the winter, and it seems that some of these sections may reach the near impassable stage before winter is over as they did five years ago.

Engineers are frequently seen along the highway and doubtless will have something done about it before the hard freezes and winter rains set in.

“Renfro Valley”

The Coon Creek Girls, Slim Miller, Shorty Hobbs and Eller, Granny, Ernest Cornelius and Aitchy Burns will be at the Powell County High School on Wednesday night, November 27.

The program is sponsored by the Senior class.

Plan now to attend and bring your friends and neighbors.

Admission 35 cents for adults and 19 cents for children.

Get vaccinated against the flu

State public health officials are encouraging Kentuckians to get a flu vaccination during National Influenza Vaccination Week, Dec. 7-13, to reduce the spread of illness this holiday season.

“Getting a flu vaccine is an early holiday gift you can give to yourself and your family,” said Dr. Stephanie Mayfield, commissioner of the Kentucky Department for Public Health (DPH).

“As the holidays approach, people will be traveling, and families will gather together, increasing the potential for exposure to the flu. We are strongly urging anyone who hasn't received a flu vaccine, particularly those at high risk for complications related to the flu, to check with local health departments or other providers.”

Kentucky's current flu activity level has recently increased to regional, which indicates an upturn in influenza-like illness (ILI) or outbreaks of flu and laboratory confirmed flu in regions of the state.

National Influenza Vaccination Week is a weeklong observance that serves as a reminder to those people who have not yet received a flu vaccine that the time to get vaccinated continues into winter – through January or later, when flu season typically peaks. Because it takes about two weeks for the body to develop protective antibodies against the flu following vaccination, Kentuckians who have not had a chance to be vaccinated should seek out the opportunity during this season. Vaccine supplies are considered plentiful at this time, but people are urged to call their providers or pharmacies to check on availability.

Throughout the week, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and DPH will highlight the importance of vaccinations for those people at high risk, their close contacts and all those who want to be protected against the flu. In addition, good health habits such as washing hands often with soap and warm water, avoiding touching your eyes, nose or mouth, and staying at home from work or school when sick will also be emphasized.

The best way to protect against the flu is to receive a flu vaccination. The CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices recommends flu vaccine for all individuals 6 months of age and older. People who should especially receive the flu vaccine because they may be at higher risk for complications or negative consequences include:

- Children ages 6 months through 18 years;
- Pregnant women;
- People 50 years old or older;
- People of any age with chronic health problems;
- People who live in nursing homes and other long-term care facilities;
- Health care workers;
- Caregivers of or people who live with a person at high risk for complications from the flu; and
- Out-of-home caregivers of or people who live with children less than 6 months old.

Kentuckians should receive a new flu vaccination each season for optimal protection. Healthy, non-pregnant people ages 2 through 49 can be vaccinated with either the flu shot or the nasal vaccine spray. Children younger than 9 years old who did not receive a previous seasonal flu vaccination should receive a second dose at least four weeks after their first vaccination.

High dose flu vaccine is available for persons aged 65 years and older this year. A higher dose of antigen in the vaccine is designed to create a stronger immune response and provide better protection against the flu.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released information this week that some of the nation's circulating influenza A (H3N2) type viruses, the most common so far, may not be covered well by this year's vaccine. This situation is not unusual. It is challenging to anticipate the strains that will circulate during the season, since flu vaccine is made months before the season begins. Despite the possibility of a poor vaccine match for one of the circulating strains, vaccination still provides the best protection against influenza. The vaccine appears to be a good match for many of the strains which are being transmitted, and because of antibody cross-protection, should help to reduce hospitalizations and deaths, even in persons who may contract the mismatched strain of influenza.

In addition to flu vaccine, DPH strongly encourages all adults 65 years and older and others in high risk groups to ask their health care provider about the pneumococcal vaccines. These vaccines can help prevent a type of pneumonia, one of the flu's most serious and potentially deadly complications. The CDC now recommends that adults 65 years or older receive the pneumococcal conjugate vaccine (PCV13, Prevnar-13) in addition to the pneumococcal polysaccharide vaccine (PPSV23, PNEUMOVAX-23). Getting both vaccines offers the best protection against pneumococcal disease. Between 3,000 and 49,000 deaths are attributed to flu and pneumonia nationally each year, with more than 90 percent of those deaths occurring in people age 65 and older.

Infection with the flu virus can cause fever, headache, cough, sore throat, runny nose, sneezing and body aches. Flu is a very contagious disease caused by the flu virus, which spreads from person to person. For more information on influenza or the availability of flu vaccine, please contact your local health department or visit <http://healthalerts.ky.gov>.

Pirates open new era

By GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County boys basketball team started their new season last week under new head coach, Ryan Whitaker. Powell was looking to continue their success from last season. Last Tuesday, the Pirates hosted the Bath County Wildcats. Powell jumped in the lead with baskets by Nate Brooks and Adrian Williams. The Pirates started the game with a 14 to 0 run in the first six minutes. Powell led Bath 16-1 after the first quarter. The second quarter saw eight different Pirates score at least a point, including a three point basket by Kory Freeman. Powell led by 21 points at halftime. Powell continued to run players in and out during the third quarter again with eight players scoring. The Pirates were led by four points each by Austin Napier, Tyler Carter, and Max Hernandez. Powell continued to maintain a big lead over the Wildcats, 55-30 at the end of the quarter. The fourth quarter saw both teams use most of their benches and Powell won easily 81-51. The Pirates were led in scoring by Nate Brooks with 12 points and Kory Freeman with 11 points. On Friday night, the Pirates traveled to Owsley County to take on the Owls in a district match-up. The game was the typical physical Powell-Owsley contest. Powell took the early lead with rebounding in the post by Nate Brooks and Kory Freeman and outside shooting by Derrick Robinson and Bradley Cornett. The Pirates led 15-9 after the first quarter. Owsley made the game close in the second quarter allowing the Pirates to score only nine points. Powell still led at halftime, 24-21. The third quarter was a defensive struggle as both teams had trouble scoring. Powell managed only seven points and Owsley could only score five points in the quarter. The Pirates led 31-26 after three quarters. Powell was able to hit its free throws going down the stretch as Brad Smith made eight straight free throws to help the Pirates to a victory, 55-40. The Pirates were led in scoring by Bradley Cornett and Brad Smith, both with 10 points. Saturday, the Pirates traveled to Paris for the Kentucky Bank Classic. Powell faced off against Walton/Verona. The Pirates were sluggish to start the game. Brad Smith scored eight points in the first quarter to help the Pirates stay close. The Pirates struggled to score in the second quarter, only managing five points and trailing at halftime.

Adrian Williams had seven points for the Pirates in the third quarter, out of the teams eleven points. Bradley Cornett heated up in the fourth quarter for the Pirates scoring all nine of his points in the quarter.

Walton/Verona made their free throws at the end and defeated the Pirates 51-42. The Pirates were led in scoring by Adrian Williams and Bradley Cornett with nine points each. The Pirates first week of the season ended with a 2-1 record and 1-0 in district play. The Pirates host Jackson City on Tuesday and travel to South Laurel on Saturday.

Lady Pirates beat Owsley on the road to open at 2-0

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Powell County Lady Pirates got their first taste of victory in their season opener against Wolfe County early last week. They hoped to keep that going as they set sail for Booneville to take on the Owsley County Lady Owls last Friday. As part of a rare, yet we will see more of them this season, boys-girls double header, Powell came from behind at the half to win 40-33. Both teams got off to a slow start. Neither team could score in double figures in the first two quarters of the game. The Lady Pirates held a slim 8-6 advantage after one frame was in the books. Meanwhile the lady Owls outscored Powell 9-5 in the second quarter to take a 15-13 halftime lead. The rare deficit to this district opponent in recent years, mixed probably with Coach Ken Jones halftime speech, seemed to wake Powell up. At least a little. The Lady Pirates outlasted Owsley in the final two quarters to take home the 40-33 win. Powell was led by Destiny Peck with a game high 14 points. She was the only Lady Pirate in double figures. Briana Elam added nine pints, Sarah Spencer tossed in seven and Dakota Brown picked up four points. Amber Branham, Savannah Hamilton and Felicia Ledford each added two points to the winning cause. Owsley was led by Ronni Bennett and Macie Gibson, each with 10 points. Powell out rebounded Owsley 32-22, with Savanna Hamilton picking up 10 boards and Destiny Peck had eight. “The girls showed a lot of heart in this game, on the road, in a hostile environment, four players with a touch of the flu, and plagued by foul trouble from the second quarter on,” Jones said after the game. “And they still found a way to win. When our offense catches up with the defense, we’re going to be a pretty good team.” Powell enters this week 2-0, 1-0 in district play. Owsley is now 2-1, 0-1 in the district. The Lady Pirates were set to play Hazard at home this past Monday night and take on Buckhorn at home tonight (Thursday).
